RECOGNITION

Diversified, globally relevant and strongly regulated at the federal, state and municipal levels: these are the factors that define the mining sector in Brazil. Aware of this challenging scenario, TozziniFreire's Mining team has played an active role in advising companies in the segment and is qualified to deal with the increasingly complex, structured and sophisticated operations of the field.

Our broad experience in legal procedures involving mineral exploration in Brazil, including regulatory issues, allows us to anticipate possible legal obstacles, saving clients both time and money.

We advise national and international large mining groups, medium and small companies and investment groups in the mineral sector.

Services

- Mining audit in M&A and project financing operations;
- Comprehensive legal advice on the acquisition, structuring and follow-up of research, development and mining projects;
- Negotiation and preparation of mining contracts, such as assignment of rights, lease of deposits, royalties, relating to ownership and use of the land to be explored, researched or drafted, among others;
- Assistance in the constitution of easements;
- Mining litigation, advising compliance with requirements of the administrative authority;
- Elaboration of opinions and legal opinions in Mining Law.

Our Practice

We are prepared to assist companies in legal audits in the areas of M&A, asset sales, financing agreements and royalties. The results of these audits are presented as objective and conclusive reports tailored to the client, allowing immediate identification, assessment, understanding and quantification of contingencies and, consequently, easy consideration of their materiality in relation to the characteristics of the operation .

We are also prepared to offer immediate support in crisis management, with the rapid structuring of a multidisciplinary team to respond to the many demands that may arise, considering environmental, regulatory and tax aspects, among others.
